Our Speakers

Alan Currie - Consultant Psychiatrist MB ChB, MPhil, FRCPsych

Dr Currie is a Consultant Psychiatrist in the Regional Affective Disorders Service, a lecturer at Newcastle University and a visiting professor at the University of Sunderland in the Department of Sport and Exercise Science.

His research interests include eating disorders, recovery, social inclusion, mood disorders and movement disorders and he has published in all these areas including co-editing and authoring several chapters in Social Inclusion and Mental Health (2010). He has published on a range of sports psychiatry topics including editing an award winning handbook of Sports Psychiatry for clinicians and overseeing the 2007 UK Sport guidelines on eating disorders.

He is an active member and fellow of the Royal College of Psychiatrists. For 4 years he sat on the executive of the General & Community faculty and in the last 5 years he has organised 5 symposia on sports psychiatry topics at the Royal College of Psychiatrists International Congress.

He is chair of the Royal College of Psychiatrists Sports and Exercise Psychiatry Special Interest Group and a board member of the International Society for Sport Psychiatry (ISSP). Over a 20-year period he has acted as a consultant to a number of national sports organisations and supported them in developing practice guidelines and educational materials.

Dr Katherine Bristowe - Research Associate at King's College London

Katherine Bristowe is a post-doctoral research fellow at the Cicely Saunders Institute, King's College London. Her background is in health communication and health services research, and she has worked in palliative care research since 2010. Katherine is a mixed methodologist with extensive experience of research, in the context of long-term conditions and life-limiting illness, in community and hospital settings.

She regularly teaches on research methods, particularly qualitative approaches to research and questionnaire design, as well as communication in healthcare. Katherine has a particular interest in widening access to health care and palliative care for LGBT (lesbian, gay, bisexual and/or trans) people.
